A solid timber bench, a deceptively simple design that utilises opposing perspectives and surface contouring to create an expressive optical impact.

The opposing vertical and horizontal contours in conjunction with an interplay of angles create drama and a playful tension and The scooped relief work echoes rhythmic waves, a FREQUENCY.

Shown in solid Walnut, the FREQUENCY bench has sculpted ripples carved on either side of a smooth seat plateau which can also be tailored with a simply fitted padded seat.

Originally designed for an exclusive Clifton Terraces interior project, FREQUENCY bench is available in a range of standard and custom timber finishes.

“OKHA’s designs are an assembly of very few elements, a kind of visual Haiku, the fewest amount of syllables expressing the maximum possible.”

- Adam Court, OKHA Creative Director
